THE BEST OF SINGAPORE

With skyscrapers towering the sky illuminating the city at night you could easily be confused to think you were visiting New York, that is if it wasn't for the tropical climate. Singapore is most famous for its designer retail therapy and tasty Chow Mein's, but this modern, affluent city-state has a lot more to offer than the casual traveller could ever imagine.

Malay and Chinese food on offer in the Geylang neighbourhood. Because the shophouses are protected from redevelopment, the region will give you a traditional look at Singapore as opposed to the trend of modernisation across the rest of the country.

Haji Lane

Haji Lane is in the Kampong Glam region of Singapore and 'glam' would be an adequate description of this fashionista paradise. This tiny lane is hidden away in the heart of the Muslim quarter and consists of authentic Middle Eastern cafes, narrow shop-houses and trendy fashion boutiques.

Round Up

Head down to Orchard Road to get your designer fix with the likes of Louis Vuitton, Chanel and Hugo Boss tempting you in. Then once you've shopped till you've dropped get that extra burst of energy and enjoy the real Singapore - A city rich in arts, entertainment and greenery.
